Company Portfolios, Overhead and Staff are Aggressively Managed

Do the Same for Your Company's Programs and Projects

Around the world, billions of dollars are invested each year toward new and existing programs and projects. Each with a different objective; perhaps it's to launch a new product, integrate advanced IT systems, automate a registration process or collect and organize data. The list could go on forever, but the commonality amongst them all is the need for management and control. The ultimate goal is to effectively reach desired results of the program and project on time, on budget and with the appropriate leadership.

Failure happens when the discipline and structure to competently manage resources and scheduling is lost. Effective program management is vital in maintaining a timetable, tracking resources and responding appropriately when a project is threatened.

LEAD AND COMMUNICATE YOUR WAY TO A SUCCESSFUL PROJECT

Integrity's Project Management services utilize best practices in planning, organizing and budgeting to optimize resources and maximize outputs within the classical constraints of scope, time and budget. Our project managers go far beyond "managing by the book". We mix in the art of communication and leadership to maintain a one-team, one-goal approach, and build effective relationships while juggling project constraints. We place a premium on communication to ensure that all project stakeholders are continuously on the same page. Lack of communication is a major reason that projects fail, but it is of utmost priority on all of our projects. We will improve Communication and Facilitation with all stakeholders across your enterprise through both classical and innovative communication.

DO THINGS RIGHT THE FIRST TIME

We work with program sponsors to define quality and success upfront. We ensure quality by helping the project team to focus on doing the right things first, and doing things right the first time. Rework is painful, comes at a high cost, and we like to avoid it. Integrity provides the Quality Assurance to systematically monitor and evaluate a project to ensure that quality standards are met. We also assist in identifying and selecting standard Governance Frameworks that will provide the added structure necessary to keep all parties up to speed. We employ frameworks to provide the control and oversight needed to allow your resources the time to focus on current and new opportunities for better performance.

ACTIVE MANAGEMENT TO OPTIMIZE PERFORMANCE

Integrity will help your organization manage multiple related projects to reach your end goals. Our Program Management services help you identify and select the right projects while keeping the big picture in mind to strategically utilize key resources. We strike the right balance between overall strategy and tactical execution to drive successful results. We will also help you optimize performance by actively managing your IT portfolio of planned initiatives, projects and ongoing services. Our Portfolio Management services help to provide central oversight of budget, risk management and strategic alignment of IT investments with the standardization of investment procedures and processes.
